

Gemprint® is...

an identification system for diamonds that records the unique and subtle distinctions in diamonds, just as fingerprinting does for people. Completely noninvasive, Gemprint technology works by shining a low-powered laser light at a diamond, which is refracted within the diamond and reflected from every facet and internal characteristic. The light coming back from the diamond is a distinct 'optical fingerprint' – a Gemprint - that is recorded and saved in a database shared instantly among a global network of jewelers, law-enforcement and government officials. Gemprints can be matched and retrieved in seconds. As forensic evidence, Gemprint has been used by the FBI and the Canadian Government since its invention in 1976.

Gemprint® is the world's most sophisticated identification technology that records the unique optical 'fingerprint' of each diamond. Just like a human fingerprint, every diamond has a unique Gemprint®.

Register Your Diamond

After your diamond has been Gemprinted, register it in the Gemprint® International Registry to update the database with your name and contact information so that in the event of loss and recovery, you will be contacted. When you register your diamond, a unique account will be set up for you that will allow you to update your account online, report a diamond lost or stolen or transfer ownership of the diamond.

Gemprint Registration Process

Any diamond that has been Gemprinted can be registered in one of two ways:

- 1) Ask your retail jeweler or appraiser to register your diamond in the Gemprint® International Registry.
- 2) Register your diamond at Gemprint.com. Registration Fee applies.

THREE REASONS to register your diamond's Fingerprint

1. Peace of Mind

Gemprint® allows you to verify identity with absolute confidence. Even if your diamond has been removed from its setting, a Gemprint® allows you to positively identify it, helping to alleviate the worry of tampering or fraudulent stone switching when a diamond is left to be repaired or cleaned.

2. Insurance Discounts

Gemprint® is recognized by most insurance companies as a safeguard for diamonds. Many insurance companies offer a 10% discount when your diamond is registered in the International Registry at www.Gemprint.com.

3. Investment Protection

Gemprint® is a court accepted means of irrefutable evidence proving ownership and protecting your investment. When stolen jewelry is recovered, the diamond's Gemprint® can be matched with an ID in the database.
